

Greece & the Greek Isles in the Footsteps of Paul

Day 6
Crete and Santorini

Today was tourist and worship day. Our first port of the day was the island of Crete. It's the 5th largest island in the Mediterranean. A visit to the countryside, where we learned about winemaking and Greek culture, including song and dance.

Pastor Shelley Nelson-Bridger led us in a Communion service in the mid afternoon, while many of our churches were worshiping back home at the same time.

Our second port for the day was the popular and crowded island of Santorini. The island is a crater that is the rim of a dormant volcano. We squeezed through the crowds to watch the sunset and take the required blue roof pics.

Back on the ship and on to Athens once again. Our land tour continues tomorrow.

Peace,
Pastor Charlie
